manner of their performance. I left you with but one certainty, and I return with that—the certainty that I had no other motive in my heart than the honor of the flag, the sacredness of the Constitution and the prosperity of all our people. [Cheers.] I come to you again accompanied by a great sorrow; but I trust—and your presence here gives me your witness—unattended by any shame growing out of the discharge of my public duties. Add to your great kindness and to this great welcome which you have extended to me to-day the kindness of excusing me from attempting to speak to you further. I shall be glad to carry out the arrangements of the committee, and to take by the hand as many of you as I may, and in these the hand as many of you as I may, and in these days and weeks that are to come to meet you in my home and in your homes as opportunity may offer. May God bless you all. [Cheers.]

From floor to dome the resounding cheers of the multitude reverberated as the speech came to a close, and did not cease until the gnests began to assemble on the receiving

RECEIVING THE GUESTS.

Costumes Worn by the Leading Ladies-The Gentlemen's Club.

Every class of citizens was represented in the throng which alled the great naves of the Statehouse, packed the stairs and hung over the great balustrades. In the center of the rotunda, on the slightly elevated platform, were General Harrison and Mrs. McKee, Governor and Mrs. Matthews and Mayor and Mrs. Sullivan. In the inclosure about the speakers' stand were a few personal friends, whom Mrs. McKee had asked to be there with her: Mrs. B. B. Walcott, Miss Newcomer, Mrs. John B. Elam, Mrs. C. C. Foster. Mrs. H. S. Fraser, Mrs. Charles Martindale, Mrs. Merrick Vinton, Mrs. F. G. Darlington and quite a group of ladies whose husbands were on the recep-tion committee. Mrs. McKee wore simple gown of black, covered with delicate figured net, and wore a large bunch of English violets; Mrs. Matthews's gown was of handsome black faille and lace; Mrs. Sullivan wore a rich creamy silk combined with golden brown velvet; Mrs. Walcott wore black silk, with lavender and silver trimmings; Miss Newcomer, dainty lavender and white striped silk, with lavender silk and lace; Mrs. C. C. Foster, bronze silk striped with delicate colors; Mrs. Frasez, a French gown of pink, blue, gold and white stripe, with dark velvet zonave; Mrs. Charles Martindale, dove black silk and gold brocade; Mrs. Darlington, black silk and lace with light brocade; Mrs. Vinton, gray silk, with small parti-colored dots. Other ladies were Mrs. Caleb S. Denny, Mrs. R. O. Hawkins, Mrs. David Wallace, Mrs. George C. Hitt, Mrs. Wood-

In the crowd which passed by were the State, county and city officials, Bishop Knickerbacker and all the Episcopal clergymen, and the dignitaries and priests of the Roman Catholic Church. At the Gentlemen's Club, of which General Harrison is a member, it was ladies' night.
The club adjourned and came in a body.
Each man was adorned with a red carnation. The members, however, could not keep in line, on account of the multitude, though every one passed by the stand sooner or later. The physicians, lawyers and other professional men were present in great numbers. Never has there been a more general and genuinely hearty welcome bestowed on any one man in this State. Such an outpouring of people was a surprise to General Harrison, and he most deeply appreciates the compliment. About 9:45 the majority had passed, and General Harrison, escorted by Governor Matthews, followed by the reception committee and the ladies of the party, left the building and were driven to Gen. Gentlemen's Club, of which General Harleft the building and were driven to Gen. Harrison's residence, where they spent a social hour.

STRUGGLING HUMANITY.

Scenes at the South Door While the Crowd Was Waiting for Admission. Long before the hour appointed for the opening of the doors an immense crowd had assembled at the south door of the Statehouse and crowded, pushed and elbowed one another, vainly trying to get a foothold upon the steps, ready for a rush as soon as the doors should be thrown open. The crowd increased in extent every moment, and as there was a little delay sbout admitting them, by the time the doors were swang open there were fully five thousand assembled in the open space in front of the Statehouse. Those upon and near the stops kept up a continwhile those further out, recognizing the fact that they were doomed to a rear position, accepted the situation philosophically, and enjoyed the discomfiture of those not so unfortunate as themselves in their efforts to retain their positions. tions of advantage. Sergeant Laporte and two patrolmen tried to quiet the crown and persuade them that it was useless to continue their crowding and that the large oaken doors were strong enough to withstand orislaughts, but it was all in vain. When the doors were finally opened there was a mighty rush, and for lifteen minutes the steps were a crowded mass of surging humanity, and for several hours there was a constant stream of people passing in and out the three large doors.

SPECIAL ESCORT.

Trip of the Committee to Germantown and the Procession.

Superintendent F. G. Darlington kindly placed a special coach, attached to the Columbus accommodation, at the disposition of the committee appointed by Gov. Matthews to go east and meet the Harrison train and return as escort to the distinguished party. The expected train was an hour late, owing to the necessity of making a detour east of Columbus by reason of a freight wreck, and consequently the committee rode to Germantown, two miles east of Cambridge City, before meeting the west-bound special. The committee consisted of Hon. C. W. Fairbanks, Colonel Lilly, president of the Commercial Club, Mayor Sullivan, Mr. J. W. Murphy, president of the Board of Trade, Mr. J. R. Wilson, Mr. F. G. Darlington, Mr. M. B. Wilson, Mr. A. W. Hendrickson and Mr. E. L. McKee. They were cordially received on entering the first of the two Pullmans, which, with a baggage car, made up the train, by United States Marshal Ransdell, who preeach to General Harrison. The latter met the party with a hearty handshake and a beaming smile, as if he had experienced relief and rest long desired. His step was not however, that of an ageing man, though the great responsibilities and trials of four years have materially whitened his hair and beard and deepened the look and lines of care in his face. He was dressed very plainly in a business suit, as is his wont, and he wors a soft, close-fitting traveling cap. When the welcome had been extended and all were seated there was a look of sadness on General Harrison's face. It was evident that his memory kept before him his last trip and its sad occasion. The thought of it, in connection with the heart; and friendly welcome given him at Richmond, the first stop made in his own State, had caused him to till with emotion, bringing his remarks to a sudden close The feeling despened, no doubt, as the train whirled over the undulating country which was beand more familiar to him. The home-coming party included Gen. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McKee and

SPEECH AT RICHMOND.

Train Made No Stop for Speeches Until After It Crossed the State Line, The special train bearing the party left Pittsburg shortly after midnight on Monday morning, having spent the day in East Liberty. General Harrison was the guest of his old friend and pastor, Rev. J. P. E. Kumler, formerly of the First Presbyterian Church of this city. He and Mrs. McKee attended the morning service, and the large church, seating 1,500 people, was very much crowded. General Harrison returned to his car about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, after having received a number of callers at Dr. Kumier's residence. The day was a pleasurable one to the ex-President. "It is a blessed relief," he said, when the day had closed, referring to the absence of the cares

The train was run on the schedule of No. , but was delayed an bour and a half east of Columbus by a freight wreck, which compelled the making of a decour. There was no special incident of travel until Richmond was reached, at 10 o'clock. There was a large concourse assembled in the large covered Union Station. It was with difficulty the people were kept back from being crushed be-neath the wheels. Judge Comstock, C. C. Binkley, L. D. Stubbs, Senator Yaryan and other prominent citizens entered the ex-President's private car and were taken cordially by the hand by General Harrison. In response to a clamorous and presistent call from the crowd, General Harrison stepped out upon the rear platform, bowed in every direction to the cheering, and

My Friends-You will excuse me from attempting to speak. I very deeply appreciate your kindness and the cordial way in which you receive me as I come back to my old State. I assure you it is with a great sense of satisfaction that I find myself again simply an Indianian (cheers); your neighbor and friend, as you are mine. In the future I shall endeavor as a citizen to cooperate with you in all that makes for the dignity, and honor, and prosperty of Indiana [cries of "good," "good" and cheers] and as a citizen, in that larger sense that embraces the indissoluble union of all the states, symbolized by the flag, to co-operate with you in upholding the honor and dignity of the American Union and in promoting the prosperity of all the people. [Cheers.] Again I thank you. My home-coming is, as you know, accompanied with a great personal sorrow. For the sympathy and kindness you have shown to me I most of all thank you. [Cheers.]

The ex-President's words ended in a voice choked with omotion, and the speaker stepped hastily back into the car to hide his feelings. But, when the train pulled out, he again appeared on the plat-form, and lifted his hat, as cheer after cheer went ap from the immense throng.

FUTURE MOVEMENTS. A Duck Hunt in the Near Future and the California Trip to Lecture on Law. The future movements of General Harrison are regarded with much interest. It is now positively known that he has accepted the invitation to become a nonresident professor of law in the Leland Stanford University at Palo Alto, Cal. This will require probably two or three months of the year. He received an invitation to take the same office in the Yale faculty, but preferred California professorship. Mr.

Robert McKee was asked yesterday as to the General's immediate intentions. "He will rest for a couple of weeks," said he, "and then go duck hunting on the Illi-nois river with Mr. Boyd. During the hot months he will probably go to the lakes or seaside. After that he has not determined his movements. Mrs. McKee will remain a few weeks, until everything at the house is in running order, and will then return to Boston with the children." Mr. McKee will start for his Eastern home probably to-morrow. When General Harrison was asked yesterday as to his future movements he said: "I will first take a rest. I have accepted no engagements that will require me to be at a certain place at a certain time until next fall. There is no truth in the report that I have any idea of writing a book." "Did you suffer any bad effects from the exposure at the inaugural in the bad weather of Saturday?" asked the reporter.

"Not in the least. I was very well protected by a long fur-lined overcoat. But it was very bad weather."

"Was it as bad as the day of your own inauguration?" "It was worse."

WELCOME FROM THE LEGISLATURE. Handsome Compliment to the Ex-President

And be it further resolved. The house was filled with flowers upstairs and down, lilies, roses, great baskets of violets, daffodils, mignonette, everything choice, beautiful and fragrant, being the welcome from friends who sent these sweet couriers, leaving their personal welcome until some later hour after the first home-coming. Both General Harrison and Mrs. McKee were touched by these generous expressions of friendship and esteen. Not long after their arrival neighboring friends called and remained but a Coroner Beck was summoned. but it will be impossible to give the cause of his death before the autopsy. Nothing is known of the deceased, except that he was arrested last Friday for the same oftense. He seems to have been a stranger in this city. The body was removed by Collier & Murphy to their morgue.

Mr. Rassmann Offers an Ordinance in the City Council for an Appropriation.

Seeming Opposition Finds Itself Outvoted-Ordinance to Increase the Pay of the Police Force-Plumbing Inspector Again.

A full quota of the Democratic land tw of the Republican members of the Council were present at the meeting last night, the business of which was hustled through with a dispatch which was indicative that the members were anxious to be at some more congenial place. At the introduction of new ordinances Mr. Rassmann was on his feet and introduced one which, if passed, will redound more to the Council's credit than anything it has done for many moons. It provided that there be appropriated out of the city's funds the sum of $75,000, to be devoted to the use of the entertainment committee of the G. A. R. encampment in providing for the care of the many old soldiers who will visit this city next September, and it will be known as the G. A. R. ordinance. When read Mr. Rassmann moved that it be referred to the finance committee, which at once started a wrangle with Mr. Costello, who wanted it to go to that on judiciary. An aye and no vote was called for, and Mr. Rassmann's motion prevailed.

A communication from the Board of Public Safety was received, recommending an increase in the pay of the police force to correspond with that recently made in the fire department, and which resulted in the introduction of an ordinance by Mr. Rassmann to the same effect. The salaries proposed are as follows: Superintendent, $160,66 per month; captains, $93.75 per month; sergeants, bailiff. humane officer, license inspector and fire and police surgeon, $75 per month; chief of detectives, $95 per month, and detectives, patrolmen, stationhouse keepers, wagon drivers, telephone operators, sanitary officers and jan-2.20 per day. It was referr committee on fees and salaries. Mr. Rassmann also introduced a new plumbing ordinance, which provides for a plumbing inspector, and is similar in de-tail to the one introduced before. It went to the health committee.

Mr. Ryan made a motion to the effect that it was the sense of the Council that $25,000 of the city's funds be changed from the permanant improvement fund to the re-pair fund. It was carried. Mr. Ryan ez-plained that he did this so that the controller might feel sure of the Council's backing when the matter came up for action. Mr. Woollen had not always been treated kindly by the Council. Councilman Gauss moved that a committee of five be appointed to confer with the Citizens' Street-railway Company in regard to the transfer car. The Councilman thought the city had long outgrown the unsightly obstruction on Washington street, and called attention to its crowded and foul condition. Messrs, Ryan and Allen, together with the railroad committee, will act in the matter.

Mr. Rassmann introduced an ordinance in conformity with the recent amendments to the city charter to raise the salary of the clerk of the Board of Public Safety from $1,200 to $1,500. It went to the committee on fees and salaries.

Mr. Puryear called the attention of the members of the Council to the fact that express wagons were still standing on streets that were about to be improved, principally the Circle, and asked what was to be done in the case. "Go to the committee on streets and alleys." shouted President Murphy, "and a motion to adjourn is in order." The Council adjourned with no other preliminaries.
